DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's election of group II and species of figure 7 in the reply filed on October, 3, 2006 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)). Furthermore, applicant has failed to provide a listing of all claims readable thereon. As a result, the examiner has selected claim 13 to read upon species of figure 7. A phone call was made to the applicant on October 26, 2006 to confirm claim 13 as the claim readable upon species of figure 7.

Information Disclosure Statement

The listing of references in the specification is not a proper information disclosure statement. 37 CFR 1.98(b) requires a list of all patents, publications, or other information submitted for consideration by the Office, and MPEP § 609.04(a) states, "the list may not be incorporated into the specification but must be submitted in a separate paper." Therefore, unless the references have been cited by the examiner on form PTO-892, they have not been considered.

Specification

Claims 3, 7-17, 19-23 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim should refer to other claims in the alternative only and cannot depend from any other multiple dependent claim. See MPEP

Art Unit: 3731

§ 608.01(n). Accordingly, the claims stated above have not been further treated on the merits.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1, 2, and 3 are rejected as failing to define the invention in the manner required by 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph.

Regarding claim 1, the phrase "such as" renders the claim indefinite because it is unclear whether the limitations following the phrase are part of the claimed invention. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

Furthermore, the claim(s) are narrative in form and replete with indefinite and functional or operational language. For instance, the statements of intended use ("for correcting retinal detachment", "for scleral band indentation...region") have been carefully considered but deemed not to impose any structural limitations on the claims patentably distinguishable over the prior art device below, which is capable of being used as claimed if one desires to do so. The structure which goes to make up the device must be clearly and positively specified. The structure must be organized and correlated in such a manner as to present a complete operative device. Furthermore, the term "steps of", "by" must be removed if claims 2 and 3 are apparatus claims. Note the format of the claims in other US patent(s).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 2, 6, and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Dailey (US-6547714) in view of Johnson (US-4575373).

Regarding claims 1, 2, 6, and 18 Dailey discloses an apparatus for correcting retinal detachment, a specifically designed encircling scleral band (col.4, line 61) with a snap-on custom made buckle (fig.1, 106).

Dailey does not disclose the process of heat shrinking. Rather, Dailey teaches a product that appears to be the same as, or an obvious variant of, the product set forth in a product-by-process claim although produced by a different process.

However, Johnson teaches altering lens placed in the eye by heat shrinking, by an electrically heated hot tip instrument (laser probe). This would provide the apparent advantage of an efficient, safe, and selective means of altering an intraocular material (col.5, lines 10-14). Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the scleral band and buckle disclosed by Dailey to be heat shrunk as taught by Johnson.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Calabria et al ("Sutureless scleral buckling". Archives of Ophthalmology, 83: issue 5, 613-8 (1970)) discloses a scleral band and buckle; Berry et al (US-5779696) and Hood et al (US- 5749871) disclose a means of heat shrinking specifically for the eye.

An examination of this application reveals that applicant is unfamiliar with patent prosecution procedure. While an inventor may prosecute the application, lack of skill in this field usually acts as a liability in affording the maximum protection for the invention disclosed. Applicant is advised to secure the services of a registered patent attorney or agent to prosecute the application, since the value of a patent is largely dependent upon skilled preparation and prosecution. The Office cannot aid in selecting an attorney or agent.

A listing of registered patent attorneys and agents is available on the USPTO Internet web site <http://www.uspto.gov> in the Site Index under "Attorney and Agent Roster." Applicants may also obtain a list of registered patent attorneys and agents located in their area by writing to the Mail Stop OED, Director of the U. S. Patent and Trademark Office, PO Box 1450, Alexandria, VA 22313-1450
